COUNCIL COME TO NO DECISION ON APPLICATION OF THE GAS COMPANY FOR AN EXTENSION

Resolution To Refuse Extension Carried Against Amendment By Alderman Macdonald To Refer Application To Finance Committee And Commissioners—On Original Motion Being Put Mayor Henry Voted With Minority Putting Matter Again Up To Company—Notice Of Motion Given By Alderman Macdonald For Next Meeting In Terms With His Original Amendment.

The application of the Northern Alberta Natural Gas Development Company for an extension of time for the fulfillment of their obligation to bring gas to Edmonton, which came before council last night, was productive of no result, either one way or the other, and until council meet again the matter remains in abeyance.

The explanation given by the company for not carrying out the work is that they cannot secure the necessary quantity of pipes required for the extension to Edmonton and to distribute the gas in the city.

As anticipated, the application was the subject of discussion, and after a little deliberation, a motion for amendment was put to the meeting, when the voting proved even, and thus the matter remained in the same condition as before, it being open, of course, for the company to bring forward a fresh application.

Subsequently, however, Ald. Macdonald gave notice of motion that at the next meeting he would move that the application of the gas company be referred to the finance committee and commissioners for consideration.

In the discussion which took place previously the line taken up by some of the aldermen was that the company had applied for their franchise in war time, and they were aware of the liabilities that they were assuming, and that they also made definite statements to the effect that they had money and could secure the material to carry out the work. Therefore, the aldermen were prepared to stand by the pledge given at the last election.

Ald. Macdonald, on the other hand, refused an extension of time, and the other aldermen took up the stand that present conditions were not normal in any respect and on this account the request was entitled to more consideration.

Felician Agreement.

In connection with this matter a letter was read from Short, Cross & Co., which drew the attention of council to the fact that the company had been granted the franchise before council that the applicants were first required to give proof of their ability to complete the project for acquiring the fields of the Pelican Oil Company, and also the Viking Gas Company. To do this the company entered into an agreement with the Pelican company, whereby they agreed to carry out the terms of the franchise, including the laying of the pipes within a certain time, the franchise should be completed by the company.

Public notice was given of this agreement.

The letter went on to say: "We give formal notice of the fact that the time for completion of the project has expired, and the company has failed to complete the project, and in such case the city would be held responsible."

Ald. Martin asked if the company were not anxious some time ago to have the gas lines transferred to them from the city, so that they might get the pipes.

Mayor Henry: They said so.

Motion "No Extension."

Ald. Martin: I move that no extension of time be granted.

Ald. Bellamy said that he would second the motion, and pointed out that in the past the city had suffered from the gas shortage, and that the company had been able to carry out the work.

"We are here in the best interests of the city," said Ald. Macdonald, "and it does not seem to me that the interests of the city unless some consideration is given to the matter and a report is furnished as to the advisability of any action in the matter."

Ald. Macdonald added that conditions were certainly abnormal, and it did not seem fair to turn down the request of the company, and that the gas and he thought that the company was in a position to give them gas quicker than anyone else.

Ald. Martin: They took the matter over after war had been declared. Also they were in such a hurry a short time ago that they could not wait.

Get Back Franchise.

The question was then put, the motion being that no extension be given, moved by Ald. Martin and seconded by Ald. Bellamy. Against this was Ald. Macdonald's amendment that the request be referred to the finance committee and commissioners for report.

The amendment was lost. Ald. Bush, Macdonald and Wilson voting for, and Ald. Phaeasey, Martin, Douglas and Bellamy against.

The original motion was then put and was carried. Ald. Macdonald and Bellamy voted for no extension while Ald. Bush, Macdonald and Wilson voted against.

"I vote against the motion," said Mayor Henry, and this brought the votes even and left the matter in abeyance.

Railwaymen's Application.

"I move that the railwaymen be filed," said Ald. Bellamy, when the acting city clerk read the formal letter from the street railway employees, giving notice of terminating the present agreement between council and themselves and asking for a 20 per cent increase in wages all round, with 55 cents per hour for operators of one-man cars, with an eight-hour day and six-hour shift.

The aldermen had looked dubious during the reading of the letter, but they smiled at Ald. Bellamy's outburst.

Ald. Douglas, however, said that he would move that the letter be referred to the utilities committee for consideration.

Ald. Martin said that he would second this, as the matter had to be considered.

Ald. Bellamy: I don't think the railwaymen have got any right to dictate how the city shall run the railway. I think it nearly time that the city took hold of the matter and running the street railway itself.

Nothing doing, the letter to be filed, and Miss Pearson informed that the city has no money to spend on anything.

This was the answer of council to the letter from Miss Pearson, to which she asked the city clerk to give special "pup" in the reading.

Miss Pearson runs a travel bureau at New York and she asked council to pay the sum of $400 for the privilege of being advertised in travel lectures, advertising booklets, etc., in connection with travel in the north country.

On the motion of Ald. Bellamy, seconded by Ald. Douglas, the letter from Mrs. E. C. Champion was filed and she was thanked for her information on the subject of the operation of one-man cars at Great Falls, Mont.

Water Towers.

The consideration of the tenders for the purchase of the water towers on both sides of the river proved a debatable subject and finally the matter was referred back to the public works committee for further recommendation.

Four tenders were received, C. L. De Vall, $2,013; O'Manion-Ferguson Supply Co., $1,210; Gorman, Clancy & Grindley, $1,125, and C. S. Sutherland, $800.

C. L. De Vall, who is a contractor, stipulated that he should pay the contract price in work on sewers to water main construction. The commissioners favored the recommendation of this tender be referred to the public works committee for report.

Mr. Gorman came before council and asked that the tenders be reconsidered, as he did not want to see that trade tenders would be considered. He was prepared to make a fresh cash or trade offer on the spot.

Some of the aldermen, while they approved of the recommendation of the commissioners, were again of the principle of trade tenders being allowed in comparison to cash offers, and finally the whole matter was asked to be the subject of consideration by the committee.

Protest Fence.

A delegation of south side residents, armed with a petition, came before council, their request being that the fence along the river be removed, either be left as now in position or if removed that a wire fence be substituted. Also that the barn be left as now or moved to the south side of the river, and that the fence be removed, and that the whole matter be asked to be the subject of consideration by the committee.

Ald. Douglas: Yes, it has. It was part of the agreement.

Ald. Bellamy: "One of their arguments was immediate construction, and that they were going to set to work without delay. It was upon us as that, and that was what the citizens voted on, that they should get the gas at once, and no more 'monkey tricks.' They haven't done it. As for the $100,000 that they claim to have spent, we don't know where they got the money, and whether they recognized as the company found it. We have a good idea that they did not."

Get Back Franchise.

Mayor Henry: It might be an appropriate time for the city to get back its own franchise.

Ald. Wilson: If only knew as much about the franchise as some here seem to know I would be ready to vote on the question. But not knowing, I would like more information.

Ald. Martin: They took the matter over after war had been declared. Also they were in such a hurry a short time ago that they could not wait.

Little Stories of Big Men
The Hermit of Wellesley Hills.
If you want to know something about anything, particularly if it is financial information you are seeking, ask Roger Babson, known to thousands of magazine readers as "The Hermit of Wellesley Hills," for it is in that Massachusetts town that he lives and does his profound thinking.
The most difficult statistics in the world are child's play to Babson.
With them he can prove anything or disprove anything just as he wishes.
He is a wizard defining industrial markets, railroad operations, financial problems and agricultural intricacies.
In fact there is little he doesn't know and nothing that he cannot write about in an interesting manner.

Roger Ward Babson was born at Gloucester, Mass., just a little more than forty-two years ago. To him is credited one of the most remarkable predictions of the great war now being fought, that was ever made. Bab-son, writing at Naples on Dec. 16, 1912, predicted in an article which appeared in the New York Times, that Austria would be the nation to start a world conflagration, which it was.
After referring to the people of Austria-Hungary and the Balkans as "the remnants of that great mass of humanity which has been flocking the past 2,000 years from Asia to Europe, remnants which failed to pass through the meshes of progress and were gathered in the great Austro-Hungarian state," he declared that "these people need, and will some day have, another grinding."

"I believe," continued Mr. Babson,
"that the final grinding wheel will be located in Austria-Hungary, and that all the great powers of Europe will have a hand in the grinding, with a result—who can tell?"

Mr. Babson believed that the death of the late Emperor Francis Joseph would be the signal for the outbreak of the world conflict, but the aged monarch lived to see the beginning of this, the greatest of his great sorrows.

The Semblance.
"What have you in the shape of cucumbers, this morning?" asked the customer of the new vegetable dealer.
"Nothing but bananas, ma'am," was the reply.—Christian Register.

Edmonton Gazette
ON OTTAWA AFFAIRS
Montreal, Aug. 14.—The Gazette's correspondent in Ottawa telegraphs that Hon. James Calder of Regina and Hon. A. G. MacKay of Edmonton, who were prominent at the Winnipeg convention, are in the capital in an attempt to secure from Sir Wilfrid Laurier a pledge to support conscription if voluntary recruiting fails to produce the required reinforcements.
So far, they have failed in their mission," the correspondent says. Mr.
MacKay had an interview with Sir Wilfrid and strongly urged him to give such a promise, but without the desired result.

Mr. MacKay, according to the correspondent of the Gazette, "is leaving the capital convinced that the Liberal members of parliament from the west had correctly interpreted Sir Wilfrid's views at the convention. Mr. MacKay at the convention had stated he was convinced that Sir Wilfrid's position on conscription had not been correctly represented."

COMPEL BETZ TO WITHDRAW FROM MATCH

Soldiers Interrupt Tennis Tournament At Regina—International Player Obligated Go Home.

REGINA, Aug. 14.—The Saskatchewan provincial tennis tournament was interrupted today by a number of soldiers, who demanded that K. L. Betz, a tennis player of international fame, withdraw and depart for his home at Prussia, Silesia.

Officials of the Regina Tennis Club made strenuous objections, but the soldiers refused to be stalled in their mission and threatened to wreck the clubhouse and to stop the tournament by tearing up the courts unless their demands were complied with.

Betz was willing to avoid trouble for the officials by withdrawing, but his companions, members of the Swift Current Tennis Club, became indignant and dropped out of all events.

The soldiers left for the city when assured Betz would not participate in the remainder of the tournament. Betz in 1914 won the court championship for Western Canada in a tourney at Winnipeg. Prior to arrival in Canada in 1910, he represented Switzerland in international events, and at one time he played with Germany against Russia in tennis competitions. Friends of Betz claim he has made three attempts to obtain naturalization in order to enlist in the Canadian forces, but was unsuccessful on account of the law that prohibits aliens from becoming citizens since the war began.

THE WOODMAN MEETS DEFEAT AT CLEVELAND

Unbeaten Trotter Of 1917 Beaten By Miss Perfection In 2:09.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—The Woodman, unbeaten 1917 trotter, met defeat today when Miss Perfection, in the 2:09 trot, opening the second grand circuit meeting at North Randall, won the race.

The Woodman was the favorite, as Mack Forbes, picked to give him competition, became ill and was scratched. Only one favorite won during the afternoon, Ruth Mainstreet capturing the 3-year-old trotting stake. In the 2:07 pace The Savoy, the favorite, was beaten by Day Springs, which sold for $15 in a pool of $180.

Day Springs, piloted by Geers, was the victor in the 2:17 pace, easily defeating Peter C. the favorite.

On account of yesterday's heavy rain and a slight downpour this morning the track was heavy.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Jackson's daring base running in the 12th inning and weakening of Douglas gave Pittsburgh the final game of the series, 2 to 0. Jackson grounded to left and stretched his hit into a double. On the hit and run Bigbee singled and Jackson scored, after Bigbee was out stealing. Carey singled and scored on Beckie's double.

The second game was marred by a fist fight between Stengel and Fletcher in the sixth inning, in which other players joined. Both principals were ordered from the field. A feature of the double header was six home runs, four of which came in the first game. Fletcher won the first game with a two-base hit in the eighth, driving the tying and winning runs in. Daubert won the second game with a home run with Olson on base in the sixth.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

Uncle Wiggily and the Jam Tarts.

Copyright, 1917, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she stood in the kitchen of the hollow stumpungalow one morning, "you were so good about making mince pie the time you cinnamon the fox maybe you'd like to try your paw at something else."

"Yes, I did have jolly good luck with that pie," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "What next would you like me to make?"

"How about jam tarts?" asked the muskrat lady. "I have a pot of jam, and all you'd have to do would be to make the pie crust parts, with the three little round holes in the top one, and put the jam between."

"I can easily do that," said the bunny. "Then I'll go downtown shopping in the two-and-three-cent store," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, and leave you to the tarts."

"Good!" cried Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. "Into the kitchen he went, and there on the table he found the pot of jam, just as Nurse Jane had said he would."

There were also flour, water, lard and other things to make the pie crust out of which he would cut the little round pieces for tarts, the top one to have three holes in so whoever ate them could see what kind of jam was in the tarts."

"Now for a good time!" cried the bunny, making his pink nose twinkle like a porous plaster. "So he began to mix the dough for the pie crust part of the tarts almost as he had done for the mince pie. Next he cut out the round parts for the bottom and the cover in the last, not forgetting the three holes, which he made with Nurse Jane's thumb that she used only on Christmas."

At last on the table Uncle Wiggily had the crust part of the tarts nicely baked, and he was just going to spread the jam on and put the tarts together when, all of a sudden, in through the window hopped three bad rats."

"Oh, they were very bad rats indeed, no relation at all to nice Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. They squatted down on the floor in front of Uncle Wiggily, switching their tails to and fro and looking at him with sharp eyes."

"Ahem!" said the first rat. "Did you speak?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking at the jam tarts, and wondering if the rats had come for them."

"Not yet, but we're going to," said the second rat. "We've come for you," added the third.

"Do you mean me or the jam tarts?" asked the bunny. "If you want some I'll bake extra ones for you, as there are now only enough for Nurse Jane and myself."

"We don't want jam tarts," said the first rat, inconsiderate like and saucy.

Today We Celebrate

Eugene Aram, Scholar, Robber, Murderer

Seldom has there been a robber, unconnected with political movements, whose life has become the theme both of a novel and a poem. Eugene Aram, a man of great talents and a profound scholar, is one of these.

Eugene Aram was born in Yorkshire. He received a fair education, then returned to his native place and married a woman named Sarah. He then went to Knarborough, where he began to study Greek, Latin and Hebrew. All this took place before 1744. He then went to London once more, became a usher in a school and studied Arabic and other ancient oriental languages, besides Celtic and botany.

Such a man would be the last, it would appear, to commit robbery and murder. However, in 1753 some workmen engaged in digging near Knarborough found the remains of a man who appeared to have been murdered.

Fourteen years before, a shoe-maker named Daniel Clark had mysteriously disappeared. It was remembered that one Richard Houseman was the last person seen in his company and the latter was apprehended. Houseman, upon examination, stated that the body discovered was not that of Clark, but that he knew where the shoe-maker's body could be found.

This led to further inquiries, which implicated Eugene Aram, and about the middle of August Houseman and Aram were committed for trial. The trial, which did not take place until the following year, disclosed a strange story. Clark, the shoe-maker, married in 1744. Aram was living at Knarborough at the time, a very poor man and united to a wife with whom he appears to have lived very unhappily. Three needy men—Clark, Aram and Houseman—entered into a conspiracy for borrowing as much valuable property as possible, as if for Clark's wedding, and then dividing the spoils amongst them. Clark was soon afterwards missing and suspicion fell on the other two, but nothing definite was found out.

Aram deserted his wife, who had some suspicion of what he had done. Houseman, at the request, stated that Aram murdered Clark to conceal the evidence about the robbery, but Aram, while admitting the fraud which the three had perpetrated, denied all knowledge of the murder. At the trial Houseman was acquitted of murder and became a witness for the crown against Aram. Very damaging evidence was given against the scholar, who made a most elaborate defense, which could only have come from an educated man. He endeavored to show that all the evidence against him was highly circumstantial. He was, however, found guilty and condemned to death. He made a partial confession, then attempted to commit suicide with a razor, and was finally brought to London and hanged at Tyburn on August 16, 1759.

Eugene Aram was the subject around which Thomson wrote a poem, and Bulwer Lytton, who knew Aram, also thought of making him the subject of a novel. Aram, it is known, when an usher at the school at Lynton was accustomed to talk to the boys frequently on the subject of murder for a reason which they did not understand, but which was probably the result of remorse in his own heart.

The first permanent settlement in the new world was established at Panama 398 years ago today, Aug. 15, 1619, by Padriarais, the Spanish governor.

In exploring the Pacific coast along the Isthmus the Spanish explorers found a small fishing village called Panama, and on the date given above the governor established his capital there. Two years after, by royal decree, Panama was made the seat of a bishop. Panama became the centre for Spanish exploration in North and South America. It was from Panama in 1542 that Pizarro began his voyage which ended in the discovery of Peru. After that a highway was established across the Isthmus, following much the same route as the great canal of the present day, and over this the great wealth of Peru was transported to the great Spanish treasure ships in the Atlantic.

Montrealers Take Up Collection in Advance To Help Potential Prisoners.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—The "Federation of Labor Clubs," in anticipation of some of its members being sent to prison for refusing to be conscripted into the army, took up a collection at an anti-conscription meeting here.

"We are not afraid of prison," said Gideon Martel, the president. He claimed that because of agitation in Quebec there has been delay in putting the conscription bill into force.

Cleo Thibault said it would take more than two regiments to crush the French-Canadians and the French-Canadian policemen would not lay hands on French-Canadians. One French-Canadian is as good as fifteen bobbies," he claimed.
